

The Communicators for Christ tour is coming to NJ!

The Communicators for Christ Tour is a training event held by the Institute for Cultural Communicators designed to help Christian students from all educational backgrounds become "cultural communicators"--people who can impact their culture through excellent communication of the truth. Their mission over the last 12 years has been to shape culture through authentic communication and equip students with both the competence and character they need to influence culture for Christ. We are truly blessed to have this training event come to our "back yard" here in NJ!

Coaches: While students are busy trying out new skills, coaches (teachers and parents) are busy learning how to continue to address these skills post-tour. The resources and expertise available will help you leave the conference confident in your ability to carry on the work that was begun at the tour.
